Elevate textiles annual report

CHARLOTTE, N.C. – October 27, 2020 - Elevate Textiles, a global provider of advanced, high-quality products and critical textile solutions to the mission, is excited about the publication of the 2020 Sustainability Report. Elevate Textiles offers luxurious global textile brands including American & Efid (A&E), Burlington, Cone Denim, Gütermann and Safety Components. The report serves as the company's first report for Elevate and the 10th Annual Report, which includes the A&E brand. As Elevate's first annual progress communication on the UN's 2020 global compact and water legislation mandate, the company's report is part of the company's performance against the goals set in its environmental programme, ten threads of sustainability. Our brands share a long-standing commitment to sustainability and an effort to accelerate our efforts to new heights, said Sim Skinner, President and CEO of Elevate Textiles. They elevate teams around the world every day to create and distribute premium, ethically and sustainably sourced products with excellence in innovation and responsible manufacturing practices. Looking forward to presenting the first Elevate Sustainability Report and looking forward to sharing our continued progress on our path to lead to bisheal change. This report narrows progress and achievements, including: a 7.7 per cent reduction in absolute greenhouse gas from 2016 to 2019, meeting the enterprise target of a 2.5 per cent year-on-year reduction; a 7.5% reduction in absolute global water consumption from 2016; increased water recycling by 65% since 2016 through the implementation of new wastewater technologies; and achieved 52 per cent sustainable cotton production in relation to its target of 80 per cent sustainable resource by 2025. As part of Elevate's dedication, we are actively working with our customers and suppliers to positively influence the people and natural environments associated with our operations and supply chain, said Chief Sustainability Officer Jimmy Summers. With the efforts of our 15,000 employees around the world, we are able to continue our progress and proudly highlight the work they do on the front lines of sustainability every day. Summers added: We are continuing to be good corporate citizens and those in which our customers and employees can be proud. We are committed to the principles of the UN Global Compact and the Sustainable Development Goals and contribute to a number of other efforts, including the ZDHC programme. We look forward to building on our current progress as we strive to achieve our sustainability goals by 2025.
